

Italians Force Enemy To Retire From Strong Point on Isonzo Front

Teuton Armies Reported To Be Abandoning The Heavily Fortified Monte San Gabriele—Continuation Of Stormy Weather On Western Front Holding Up Major Operations In France And Belgium—British By French Raids Capture Small Positions And Prisoners—Heavy Artillery Duels In Verdun And Aisne Sectors—Germany Taking Advantage Of Continued Disaffection In Russian Army.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 29.—According to the Cologne Gazette's correspondent on the Isonzo front, Monte San Gabriele has been partially taken by the Italians. The Austrians, adds the correspondent, are deserting this strong point.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A continuation of the stormy weather is still holding up major operations in France and Belgium, although the British here and there still are engaged in minor trench raiding activities, in which small positions have been captured and additional prisoners taken.

The fighting on the Verdun front for the moment also has reached a pause, only the big guns being active. There have been artillery duels along the Aisne front.

Hard fighting is in progress between the Italians and Austrians on the Bainsizza Plateau and on the heights around Gorizia. In the former sector the Austrians are defending tenaciously a powerfully fortified line to which the Italians have come within striking distance. In the fighting the Italians are still using large numbers of airplanes, which are effectively bombing enemy positions. More than 1,000 additional prisoners and numbers of machine guns have been taken by the Italians. To the south, on the Carso Plateau, the heavy fighting of last week has given way to artillery duels and patrol encounters.

Russian Disaffection. The disaffection in the Russian army which resulted in the forced retirement of a greater number of officers and NCOs by still loyal troops apparently has as yet not been eradicated, although a stiffening in the Russian defense in Galicia, Bukowina and Roumania recently had indicated that the Russians were to make no more voluntary retrograde movements. Following Tuesday's reports of the fall of Brest by the Russians, Eastern Bukowina towards the Bessarabian frontier, comes the news that, disloyal to their colors, the Russians in Southern Moldavia, from Fokashan northward, have quit their trenches and fled in disorder. The enemy, by reason of this defection, has materially bettered his position for an advance eastward and is now attacking and continuing to develop his success. The Berlin war office says the Russians have suffered heavily in men killed or wounded and have lost more than 1,000 men made prisoners and three guns and fifty machine guns. In addition they have given up splendid advantage to the Germans in the approach of the Bessarabian frontier, of which in conjunction with an invasion of Moldavia from Bukowina undoubtedly would result in disaster to all of Moldavia and also prove a valuable asset for a Teutonic advance toward Russian territory north of the bend in the Danube.

Stormy Weather Continues. LONDON, Aug. 29.—The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"Stormy weather continues. Early this morning enemy parties made a bombing attack on two of our posts east of Stettin, but were driven off with loss."

EDMONTON AUTOMOBILE CLUB TAKES FURTHER ACTION ON ITS PLAN OF ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Special Committee Appointed To Secure Better Maintenance Of The Roads Radiating From The City—Provincial And Civic Co-Operation Urged—Yellowhead Highway Endorsed Railway Bridges For Vehicular Traffic.

Roads, good roads, more roads, was the chief feature of discussion at the luncheon of the Edmonton Automobile club at the Corona hotel on Wednesday when 75 members were present and endorsed the program of good roads as an incentive to better business, beneficial to both city and country residents as well as an inducement for tourists. Rural roads radiating from the city were kept good, if the special committee appointed for the purpose can secure the desired co-operation of the city, rural and provincial administrations. This will be a benefit to residents of both city and country and tend towards further cooperation in other ways between city and country folk.

Yellowhead Highway.
Perhaps of greater general interest and of more far reaching effect was the endorsement of the project of the Yellowhead highway west from Edmonton over the discarded roadbed of the transcontinental railway, through the old and newly extended and improved Caribou trail, with the Pacific Slope, right down to the western side of the Rockies to the coast cities, there connecting with the Pacific States and the splendid highways of California.

When this plan is accomplished it will be a turning point in the history of Edmonton, which will then have the map as the northern turning point of a loop line automobile highway for transcontinental tourists. With modern motor travel this is of immense importance.

A feature of interest to the settlers in the localities affected may be the initiation of vehicular traffic of one of the two railway bridges which cross the rivers. It was suggested that since the two parallel railway lines are becoming amalgamated that the first cross over be east of the Pembina instead of west as at present, thus making available one of these bridges for vehicular traffic.

Headlights Law.
J. A. Brookbank presided over the after-luncheon business meeting.

Reports were presented by Mr. Matthews in regard to the organization of the Alberta Motor League. Dr. McPherson reported regarding the entertainment provided by the Calgary Automobile club and the recent club run to Banff.

E. Chauvin, chairman of the avics committee, explained the law in regard to headlights which now must not throw a beam of light which at 75 feet from the auto rises over 42

inches from the ground. During the discussion it was stated that the law should be enforced strict in each auto owner having to take an affidavit that his headlights complied with the regulations. It was suggested that the dealers be required to guarantee that the cars they sold should comply with the law in this and other respects.

In regard to the road to the golf links, it was reported that the golf links had offered to spend dollar for dollar with the city up to $200.

Explains Act.

J. M. Macdonald briefly explained some of the more important provisions of the Alberta Motor Vehicles act and gave warnings in regard to some of the specific clauses which might cause the danger of having to pay a heavy fine, or going to jail or losing their auto license for too frequent violations.

President Brookbank voiced the sentiments of the club when he declared in favor of law enforcement and where the law was wrong of having it enforced in the manner. He advised each auto owner to procure from the provincial secretary a copy of the new Motor Vehicles act and study its provisions.

J. M. Macdonald advised that the question of safety or danger zones be again taken up with the city authorities.

Run to Tofield.

It was decided to hold a club run to Tofield on Sept. 15th, when it is hoped the 40-mile trail will be in good condition. The duck season is then open and a day of duck shooting and a pleasant outing along the lake shore is expected. Those who go to Tofield on Sept. 15 are requested to see Mr. St. John, B. E. Blackburn.

The chairman announced the invitation of Fort Saskatchewan for the members of the Edmonton Automobile club to attend the fair on Sept. 6th. A report was given of the splendid roads and canals, how many were made and the good through the cooperation of the town, municipal and provincial authorities, which thereby provided funds for the regular and constant employment of road maintenance gangs all season through.

He was previously acquitted by Magistrate Barclay on a charge arising out of the sale of temperance beer which a provincial analyst swore contained more than 2½ per cent. of proof spirits.

This time the police are producing as evidence a sample of fruit wine which is claimed to be intoxicating.

In the previous case the court declared that there was no evidence to show that Macnaul had intentionally sold intoxicating beer or that he had made any extra profit by the sale of it.

The fruit wine charge will be fought Thursday morning. George Massie, the solicitor who featured his previous defense with the claim that three flies in a chemist's sample would change the chemical contents of the exhibit is again acting for the accused. Flies in beer, it is claimed, produce an essence of oxalic acid.

CITY DISPOSES OF CABLE AT PROFIT

Bought In 1916 At 32 Cents Per Foot—Sold At 51 Cents.

About 7,500 feet of armored cable has been disposed of to the General Electric company of Minneapolis. Superintendent Ormsby says this cable was bought in at 32 cents per foot when it was purchased with the idea of carrying out certain underground extensions in connection with street lighting. The purchase price was 32 cents per foot, and it has now been sold by Superintendent Ormsby at 51 cents per foot. During the last six months of 1916 the city intended to sell off of something like $1,500 of surplus material and equipment from the electric light department, and also made sales on behalf of other departments. He has disposed of, to the Brule Lake Co. Co., a quantity of fire hose and an old reel for $250.

ASKS COURT TO FIND ACT "MEANINGLESS"

Frank Ford, K.C., Says Law Governing Police Does Not Apply to Conditions

The police act was roundly attacked in Magistrate Barclay's court Wednesday morning by Frank Ford, K.C., former deputy attorney general for Saskatchewan, who protested that the court should find the act "meaningless" as it did not apply to modern conditions. He referred in particular to the clause which permits provincial officials to destroy samples of contraband. "That was absurd," he contended, and did away with excellent evidence which should be produced in court. Mr. Ford is closely following the numerous liquor charges which are being debated before the court. He is preparing a defense in the case of the Edmonton Brewing and Malting Company, which will be arraigned for a breach of the Liquor Act on Thursday morning.

This time the police are producing as evidence a sample of fruit wine which is claimed to be intoxicating.

GARDEN FETE BY RED CROSS DRAWS CROWD

Convalescent Home Grounds Were Gay—Many Attractions And Receipts Large.

Something that will be remembered for many a moon was the garden fete and concert given on the grounds and in the building of the Military Convalescent Home on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday. The grounds presented a gay and attractive sight with the lavish decoration of flags, bunting and electric lights and the constantly moving mass of prettily gowned women with the contrasting khaki-clad soldiers. Booths were erected in a semi-circle on the lawn to the south of the building, which all elaborately trimmed with either flags, red crosses or artificial flowers.

Many Attractions.

A large tent where afternoon tea was served was well patronized and the ice cream tent never suffered for customers. The popular craft of artistic decoration with wild, hop vines and beautiful bunches of many-colored sweet peas. The fish pond was besieged and at five-thirty had completely run out of fishes and had to be replenished for those who came in the evening. This was in charge of Mrs. Mac and $1.00 was made through the skill of Mrs. Ormsby. Sweets sold very fast and Mrs. Claud Jamieson and her fine saleswomen helpers netted $44.05. Gorgeous and varied flowers of almost every hue and species found a ready market and were soon adorning the customers in the coffee, due to Mrs. Langworthy's efforts and her band of workers.

Sports Were Progressing.

All the while sports were progressing. Tennis was delightfully fascinating to watch and some excellent games were played. Those taking part thoroughly enjoyed the sets and there were some nicely matched duels. Mr. Moth and Mr. Howe came off victorious with the highest number of games and Mrs. Beart and Mrs. Scott second. The ladies received salt sets and the gentlemen cigarettes. Clock golf and bowling were played on the green in front of the building and afternoon tea was served in the tea room.

Guessing the Stalks in the Sheaf of Wheat

Wheat was won by Mrs. James Ramsey, who received two live purebred Pekin ducks; Mrs. Young, second prize, live duck, and Mrs. Packford, the third prize, a cake. Mrs. Cormack guessed the nearest number of beans in the jar and received the first prize, a five-pound box of Freud's bitter-sweet chocolates. H. M. E. Evans, the boy who had won the first prize, was the second guesser and Rathbone Smith, the third prize, "Kaiser Bill," or throwing balls at figures, under the management of Mrs. English, brought the nice sum of $44.85. Home-cooking and guessing contests brought nearly $40. Wheat and candy, $5.40. Plain sewing was very popular with the housewives and $39 was realized early in the course of the sale. Sixty-seven dollars was the total from the ice cream, while the refreshment tent brought $110. Sports realized $16.00, while a raffle of two silk woven dolls, the work of a returned soldier, $22.66. Mrs. Davis, captured the amount of $22 and $6, and Mrs. (Dean) Kerr, No. 111, So much for the afternoon.

Evening a Surprise.

The evening was a surprise to all, in the number of those who attended. The concert was a great drawing card, and while provision was made for a hundred or more, when the time came to begin standing room was hardly available and more than 400 people crowded into the hall of the home. Mrs. Geo. Eaton was in charge of the arrangements for the concert, but at the last minute could not attend owing to the sudden illness of her little girl. Mrs. Jean Atkinson kindly consented to take charge in her absence.

The Rotary Club quartette was loudly applauded and delighted the audience with five numbers. Miss Jean Cameron and Roy Royal were well received and sang better than usual.

Dancing Enjoyed.

Mike's band was in attendance and after playing several numbers outside on the lawn they very generously and good naturedly played for dancing after the concert, in which both old and young took part, and although the floor was packed with dancing, yet nothing daunted, they danced merrily on until a comparatively late hour.

The result of the raffle for a cake was in the lucky No. 52, held by Mrs. Huskies, and Miss May won the guess to the weight

SIR ROBERT BORDEN OFFERED TO VACATE IN FAVOR OF SIR G. FOSTER—MINISTER DECLINED

After Conference With Western Liberals, Premier Tells Conservatives
Opposition Is Willing He Should Still Be Member Of Cabinet
But Not At Its Head—Caucus Demands
He Remain Leader.

Ottawa: Aug. 29.—When the Conservative caucus, which had been in session for two and a half hours, broke up at 1:30 p.m., Sir Robert Borden was one of the last to leave the caucus, coming out smiling. He announced that a committee had been appointed to make the statement for the press. The committee, he said, included Mr. J. E. Armstrong, chairman of the caucus, Senator Blair, Senator McLennan and W. F. Nickle, of Kingston. The committee remained in session for some time longer with the purpose of preparing what Senator McLennan described as a "preliminary" statement for the press.

Shortly before 2 o'clock they gave out the following statement:

"Sir Robert Borden announced that as the outcome of recent negotiations he had received from spokesman of the Western Liberals with whom he had been in conference, a notification that they were prepared to enter a union government of which Sir Robert should be a member but that they deemed another leader necessary. Of the four names put forward in this connection, one was present—Sir George Foster. Sir Robert offered to vacate the premiership in favor of Sir George, who should assume the leadership of a union government to which Sir George stated he was not prepared to undertake this responsibility, but he felt that Sir Robert was essential as premier of Canada to prosecute the war to the utmost."

"All present enthusiastically endorsed this view, the members pledging themselves to continue in loyal support of Sir Robert Borden and to co-operate with him in efforts to secure a government embracing all elements favorable to a vigorous war policy."

Resolution Passed.

The following resolution was passed by the caucus:

"We, the supporters of Sir Robert Borden, in the party, do hereby record our unanimous approval of that government's policies and achievements during these three years of war."

"We endorse the earnest and patriotic efforts of the prime minister to bring about union of all the war forces of Canada, and to give to this dominion, these four provinces, every possible stress to effecting and perfecting the advantage of an administration which would typify that union and speak to the world of the unwavering resolution of our people to see this through to victory."

"For the purpose of such union we are one and all prepared to do any and every thing that the occasion may demand. We record unanimously our profound admiration of the great work and splendid leadership of Sir Robert Borden. We sincerely believe that no other man can discharge with like capacity the tremendous task of prime minister during the critical period that now confronts us. Continuance in the premiership is indispensable to the nation and to his support we pledge our unalterable devotion."

Family Embarrasses Callers.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—We live in the country and when young men come to call on me they often feel embarrassed at having to sit on the porch with the whole family. My brother and I are the only ones who go to the door and join in the conversation. One day last week I suggested to a caller that we take a walk along the road and though the family said nothing, a girl I knew criticized me for doing it. Was this improper?

Liquid Green Soap.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Some time ago you gave advice for getting rid of blackheads by the use of liquid green soap. I have tried to get this, but so far have not been able. Is there any way of making it at home?

ISABEL

The liquid green soap, although it may be slightly different from the imported kind, can be made at home as follows:

Take equal parts of glycerin, alcohol, water and green castile soap. Shave the soap into the water and stir over the fire until smooth. Remove from the fire, add the glycerin and lastly, alcohol.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BIRTH CONTROL "HER UNBORN CHILD" NOT A PICTURE

"Her Unborn Child" is not only a Great Play but a Splendid Entertainment as well.—Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C.

Behind the Footlights

What the Advance Man Says

A CLEVER VENTRILOQUIST AND FOUR ACROBATS

Tom Edwards, who is appearing at the Empire theatre this week, has been aptly styled "England's Foremost Ventrilocuist." He is really a wizard in his particular line, possessing a power of mimicry, pantomime, and ventriloquism which is as deceiving as it is remarkable. He makes his appearance tattered as an English huntman with rags, coat and all the cut-and-thrust implements. With several different varieties of dummy, varying from the infant size to the adult, Mr. Edwards demonstrates his skill and versatility. Prominent among the supporting company is Alice Melville, a young woman of wonderful vocal powers. Miss Melville not only displays ventriloquial powers of her own, but also in a startling style, uses the varied and unequal voices of her own, the girls in the troupe, and the boys. She varies her tones from those of the baritone to those of the highest lyric soprano.

The four girls who are also on the company's bill are equally as spectacular artistes, each which stands in the front rank of all vaudeville offerings as far as beauty of presentation, wonderful skill in bearing and execution is concerned. The four girls, two men and two women, have spent almost their entire lives in the presentation of their present offering which is presented in a room of mammoth revolving apparatus, from which are suspended trapezes, ladders, rings and other paraphernalia.

EMPIRE—are you interested in the subject of birth control? It is a frank question, but not necessarily a discussion question. Medical societies, women's clubs, publicists, sociologists—all are to the fore.

JUNE CAPRICE IN DELIGHTFUL ROLE

June Caprice, the little Empress star, who has won such a following in Edmonton, is here again today, and for the balance of the week in "A Child of the Wild," of which the following is a brief synopsis. School is the last thing June (June Caprice) ever thought of. Her father, Frank, is a tramp who is like the bird and animal inhabitants of the wild. When Frank comes to teach in the wilderness June is one of the first to notice him, but to her it is not a definite task to attend school, it is no easy matter, but her father promises to bring her. The next day the rickety school house opens for the first time in years, and June's entrance at the door, dragged poor June out and finds June at school by her father. Seeing Frank, June's resistance ceases. Friendship between the two is born, but June has to leave school, but June has to fight off the attentions of Bob Gale, a rough mountain character. Sorrows distract June's carefree life, when, on returning home, she finds that Frank has found her father dead in their hut. Frank becomes the girl's father as well as warden and teacher. Bob Gale has his innings with June, but June's teacher, Frank, is in the mountain town. He tells June her teacher friend is married and that his wife and child have arrived. June believes Gale and Frank, and June's life is a misery and nice to see, "the best little girl in the world." June angrily spurns him. Frank and his sister go away, but the child longs to play with June's puppy. June's teacher, June's mother, and June as she cries for "Uncle Frank." Then June sees the truth. She rushes back to the hut and tells Gale to leave. He attacks her but she fights him off and he is knocked down the mountaineer and asks June to meet his sister. Happy to find her hero June, June nestles in his arms as the little new baby thoughtfully withdraws.

MONARCH.—Billie Burke, always charming and always a credit to any stage or screen play in which she appears, is on the Monarch Theatre all this week in "The Mysterious Miss Terry," a strangely remarkable production directed by the well-known J. S. Fredrick. The play is a love story with a mystery— a comedy with a human interest turn.

DEATH OF EARL GREY, EMPIRE STATESMAN

Former Governor General Brought Honor To An Historic And Distinguished Name.

London, Aug. 29.—Earl Grey, former governor-general of Canada, died at 6 o'clock this morning at Howick Hall, Northumberland, after a long illness. The funeral will be held at Howick on Saturday when a memorial service will be held in London.

Sketch of His Career
Lord Strathcona described Earl Grey as "a statesman and a philanthropist in the best sense." His active career comprised not only the administration of the government of Rhodesia and representation of the South African government to the government of Canada, but industrial and financial operations in the development of South Africa. One of the most noted movements to which he gave his support and in which he was a leading spirit was the Public House Trust Company of England, an enterprise designed to supplant the ordinary saloons for the sale of intoxicating liquor by the established houses and to discourage the use of intoxicants by substitution of tea and coffee.

Born November 23, 1851, Alfred George, fourth Earl Grey, was created at Trinity College, Cambridge, and married in 1877, Alice Holford, of Woottonbirt, England. Two daughters, Lady Evelyn Grey and Lady Sybil Grey, were the result of the union.

Friend of Cecil Rhodes

By profession Earl Grey was a lawyer. He was a member of parliament for Northumberland for six years, beginning in 1880. On the death of his uncle, General Grey, in 1885, he succeeded to the title and took his seat in the House of Lords. For two generations previously the earl Grey had been prominent in the political affairs of the British Empire. His grandfather had been prime minister of England and his uncle private secretary to the queen.

Becoming associated with the late Cecil Rhodes

Earl Grey entered enthusiastically into plans for the development of South Africa; was promoter of the South African Chartered Company, and, concentrated in the Johannesburg district, amassed a fortune and in 1896 became administrator of Rhodesia, where he proved to be a capable and constructive administrator. He was one of the executors of Cecil Rhodes' will and was influential in the administration of Rhodes' scholarships at Oxford.

A Democratic Aristocrat

Succeeding his brother-in-law, Lord Minto, Earl Grey was appointed Governor-General of Canada in 1904 and occupied that post for six years. His administration was described as a quiet but uniform success. He was a strong advocate of Imperial federation and urged Canadians to share the burden of England's defense.

Legion of Friends in Canada

Cecil Rhodes found him full of passionate enthusiasm for the growth of the British Empire and that he was willing to bend every energy to the achievement of that object. One of his most profound convictions was that union of English-speaking peoples would be a world-wide benefit.

Earl Grey was a world-wide benefactor.

Although born an aristocrat, Earl Grey was very democratic in his sympathies. This found chief expression in his almost life-long activity as a social reformer, and in his efforts to restore the spirit of freedom and the sense of co-operative participation on his estates in Northumberland. He was not an idle hearer of a great name, but was imbued with restless energy and a spirit of enthusiasm in all his enterprises, constituting a multitude of interests.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1917

Canada's political system has perhaps never been in so unsettled a condition as today. Certainly not for many years have the public been so wanting in political adhesion and so disabled for concerted action. The party organizations, which in normal times serve to define issues and give direction to public thought, are in a state of disturbance. Parliament has outlived its term and lost touch with the people. The government has lost public confidence, and has also apparently lost confidence in the public. We are politically in chaos.

Which is another way of saying that we are feeling the reflex influence of the war. Not that Canadians are weakening in their resolution to do all that they can do and should do to help to win, and to win as quickly as possible. But that resolution has been countered by side currents of divergent opinion, and impeded by the necessities of political readjustment. The fact is that our government has broken down, both in administration and in popular leadership, and has to be replaced by another. Who is to compose the new government and by what methods it is to carry on are the questions upon which attention has come to be centred. If, in debate about the details of how the national effort is to be carried on, a good many people have lost both their tempers and their clear view of the essential facts of the situation, there is nothing unusual in that.

Between trying to run both the Conservative party and the "leading Liberal paper of the West," Sir Clifford Sifton must be a busy man these days.

The public, who have to pay the cost and stand the consequences, are entitled at this juncture to a chance to make their own Government. The theory that the public cannot be trusted to elect representatives capable of setting up an efficient Government, and that this has to be done for them by Sir Robert Borden and Sir Clifford Sifton and a hand-picked coterie of place-hunting politicians, is a bit thick for popular consumption.

Milk has gone up to 12 cents per quart. The dairymen claim that the advance is not out of keeping with the increased cost to them and the growing expense of carrying on business. It is to be remembered, as a modifying consideration, that the dairymen have not in the past shovelled up the price of milk as rapidly as other food stuffs were boosted, and that they last spring invited the city council to make an investigation of their books if it was thought they were trying to hold up the public. It is to be hoped the new price will hold through the winter. Milk is one of the things that cannot be done without. The present price is very high. Any further increase would impose real hardship on those least able to pay more and least able to curtail consumption—families where there are small children and whose income is not large.

President Wilson's reply to the Pope's peace proposals is complete. Whatever may have been in the President's mind six months ago when he invited the belligerent nations to define their objects in the war, his present communication makes plain that no such definition was necessary to acquaint him with the facts as to who started the war, and why, and upon what terms alone a permanent peace can be established. "Peace without victory" is the sort of peace he declares to be impossible if the nations are to dwell in security. In a concluding sentence he goes straight to the heart of the matter: "We must await some new evidence of the purposes of the great peoples of the Central Powers." An enduring peace can be built upon no other foundation than the manifest desire of the peoples of Germany and Austria to live at peace with their neighbors in future. When they exhibit that desire will be the time to talk peace.

The conscription bill is now law. It is, therefore, advisable to note that on proclamation of the Governor General that any class is called out for service all men coming within that class are deemed to be enlisted soldiers and under Military law, and it is the duty of all such men to report in such way and at such places as may be set out in the proclamation or in regulations made under the act. No registration is to be made, nor any means taken of officially indicating who belongs to the various classes. The obligation to report for duty falls automatically upon every man included in the class called when the proclamation is made, and anyone failing to report is liable to be tried by court martial or in the civil courts and imprisoned for three years. As the bill was amended in debate, Class one now includes all men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-four who are unmarried or widowers without children. This is the class which will be first called, unless it is thought advisable to call class two at the same time.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily and Jimmie's Eggs

Copyright, 1917, by the McClure News-paper Syndicate.

"How would you like a rice pudding?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy the muskrat lady housekeeper of Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, one day.

"How would I like a rice pudding?" repeated the bunny. "Is that a riddle to guess?"

"It will," I'm a question I asked," went on Nurse Jane, with a laugh. "I mean would you like one baked in the oven for supper?"

"I would," answered Mr. Longears.

"Though it is so hot today that I think you could bake a rice pudding if only you set it out in the sun. I hope you have time to cold for supper."

"I will," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "but if you want a rice pudding, whether cold or hot, you'll have to go get me some eggs. I need them to stir in the pudding."

"You shall have them!" cried Jolly Uncle Wiggily. "I'll go to the store for them, I guess."

"There is no need to go to the store, Wiggly," spoke Nurse Jane. "Just step over to the coop of Mrs. Cluck-Cluck, the hen lady, and she will give you some eggs."

So the bunny rabbit gentleman went over to Mrs. Cluck-Cluck's coop, but the hen lady, who was the mother of Charlie and Arabella Chick, said:

"I am very sorry, Uncle Wiggily, but I haven't an egg left. Dr. Possum took the last one I had to give to Grandpa Gossamer Gander, who was not feeling well."

"I'm sorry to hear that," said Uncle Wiggily. "I mean about Grandpa Gossamer. I dare say I can get eggs somewhere else."

"I hope you can," said Mrs. Cluck-

Cluck.

Uncle Wiggily was very hungry for the rice pudding, but he knew it was of no use to go back to Nurse Jane without the eggs, so off started the old rabbit gentleman through the woods and over the fields looking for them.

But everywhere he went either his hands were just out of eggs or were expecting some, so Uncle Wiggily could not get any.

All of a sudden, as he was wondering what to do, and thinking that, after all, he would have no rice pudding, out from behind a stump came Jimmie Wibblewobble, the boy duck.

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Jimmie. "Why do you look so sad?"

"Because," answered the bunny rabbit, "I can get no eggs so Nurse Jane can make a rice pudding."

"Oh, ho!" laughed and quacked Jimmie. "As to that, if you will come to my mother's duck pen she will give you some eggs. She lays eggs as good as Mrs. Cluck-Cluck's hen lady."

"Of course, her duck eggs are larger than a hen's," went on Jimmie.

"Then they will make all the better rice pudding," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll get you the eggs from my mother," went on Jimmie, and he did, soon coming back with his pockets full, as Mrs. Wibblewobble had more than she needed.

"I'll help you carry them home," said Jimmie the duck. "I'm used to carrying eggs, Uncle Wiggily."

"Thank you," spoke the bunny rabbit.

So he started off toward his hollow bungalow with Jimmie and the eggs and then, all of a sudden, once more, out from behind a stump jumped the old bad skilly-scally alligator for this time.

"Ah, ha!" mumbled the 'gator, gritting his teeth. "At last I have caught you, Uncle Wiggily; and I think you'll not get away from me this time!"

With that the alligator, with one snap of his double jointed tail, held Uncle Wiggily fast in his claws.

"Please, let me go!" begged the bunny.

"No!" snapped the 'gator.

"I'll give you some of the rice pudding Nurse Jane is going to make from Jimmie's duck eggs," went on the bunny.

"No!" sneaked the alligator.

"Will you let him go if I ask you?" spoke Jimmie politely, reaching in his pocket.

"No! No! No!" coughed the alligator, lashing his double jointed tail.

"Ha! Then maybe you will let him go for one of these," suddenly cried Jimmie. "And with that, holding a big piece of his webbed foot, the brave little chap dashed it down on the alligator's head.

"Oh, wow!" cried the 'gator. "My head is smashed! It is broken all to pieces, and it's running down inside my collar! Oh, dear! Wow! I'll be good!"

Then, thinking the smashed egg was his broken head, away waddled the 'gator, not hurting Uncle Wiggily after all. And there were enough eggs left for a fine rice pudding.

So if the hot water bottle doesn't take cold in the ice box, and sneezes the pepper caster into the salt cellar, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ginger snap.

Letters to Uncle Tom

Likes New Britain

Dear Uncle Tom: I like my holidays very happily. I like the new paper for us children. Our school is going to start the 3rd of September. One of my friends is not away. I will try better after I have written to you more often. I am in grade VII now. My birthday will soon be here.

It is the 13th of September. In the Daily Log I have written the song "O Canada" I know it all along by heart.

We are having an apple crop 18 loads up. With best wishes.

Yours truly,

B. E. RUDE.

Tofield, Alta., Aug. 22.

Organized Ball Team

Dear Uncle Tom: I have been having, but we finished on Thursday. We have about thirty days of hay up. I harvested all the hay and went to the schoolhouse and went again today. I used to stook this forenoon. We have organized a baseball team and practice two nights in every week. Our potatoes got frozen a couple of weeks ago, and they are looking pretty good now. Our school has a picnic on the 7th of August. Our school team played the Ribstone team. I am in grade VII now. I went to Egerton on the 12th of August to see the Orange Celebration. It is a fine time. Papa is an Oranger and I hope to be one some day.

On the 13th of August we are home on the train at nine o'clock and mama met us at Ribstone. Many of the members of my age 12 years, would care to write to me and I would be pleased to hear from them and I will answer all letters. Well, Uncle Tom, I guess that is all. With love to all the members and yourself. Yours truly,

ROBERT H. MORRISON.

Ribstone, Aug. 18.

A Crack Shot

Dear Uncle Tom: You will have to excuse me for not writing before but I have been very busy helping with the hay and have neglected to write. In the week's paper one of our members asked for the song "The Queen of Canada." While I am not a piano player this time and I am not a duck shot, I have been stacking hay lately. Who will be done barding tonight if it doesn't rain. My father has been buying some cattle lately. We have forty-two head of cattle now. I will be glad when the duck season comes as there are lots of ducks around here. I was promoted to grade VII in half a year. My sister also passed her grade and I am now in grade VIII.

EVERETT FRANCIS.

The Spanish Cavalier

A Spanish Cavalier stays in his retreat. And on his guitar plays the tune, dear.

The music so sweet, the love times did repeat.

The blessings of my country, and you dear.

Chorus:

Say darling, say, when I am far away. Sometimes you may think of me, dear. Bright sunny days will soon fade away. Remember what I say and be true, dear.

Then they will make all the better rice pudding," laughed Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll get the eggs from my mother," went on Jimmie, and he did, soon coming back with his pockets full, as Mrs. Wibblewobble had more than she needed.

THOUGHT CHILD WAS DYING

"Cholera Infantum!"

DR. FOWLER

EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY CURED HER

Mother should lock well their children during the hot summer months as this is the time when the little ones are most prone to it. It begins with a profuse diarrhea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the child rapidly loses flesh, and becomes weak, prostrated and languid.

Mrs. D. A. Clivell, B.M.B.S., writes: "I can assure you that the most effective remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. A friend of mine whose little daughter was ill with cholera infantum, was given up by the doctors. The little one's mother asked me to come in and see the child. I told her I had a bottle of Dr. Fowler's and asked her if she would like to try it. The little woman said the child was well. This was a miraculous one, for I found the child was dying at the time."

There is nothing can take the place of Dr. Fowler's.

There is nothing just as good.

Do not accept a substitute, and thus endanger your life.
